CELEBRATING 77 YEARS OF INDEPENDENCE

"I am still learning." – Michelangelo, Italian Renaissance sculptor, painter, and architect, who greatly influenced the development of Western art.

Unlike our physical growth, which beyond a certain-point ceases, our mind, and thereby our learning, never stops evolving. It's a lifelong process that sustains our life's trajectory. Learning is a chain of building blocks that structure our development to our desired objectives and goals. An eventful progression, that is contingent on an individual's inclinations, determination, aptitude, passion, ambition, with a sense of purpose to achieve a more balanced and fulfilling existence. As you proceed on the final stretch of this year's academic journey, it is inevitable that the conclusion of this phase will mark the beginning of a new chapter in the pursuit of whatever you aspire for.

As a student, all of you have the potential to chase your dreams, so shed any inhibitions or doubts you may harbor– stay focused and charged, to soar higher, even to "Where Eagles Dare!"

Batool un Nisa Basit

Our very own, Batool has done exceptionally well in the academic pursuits – a Masters in Political Science from the University of Balochistan, and Master's in History and Master's in Journalism from the University of Edinburgh. She also did a six-month course from Harvard in Ancient and Modern Literature.

This led to a transition to writing novels. The Metamorphic Revival and The Serenade of Serendipity have already been published. Described as “an inspiring narrative of resilience, empowerment, and the enduring power of love,” The Metamorphic Revival has garnered good reviews. The Serenade of Serendipity is a “tapestry of love, betrayal, and the unwavering strength of two extraordinary women navigating the intricate rules of nobility,”
