AUGUST 6, 2024

“The first step to getting anywhere is deciding you’re no longer willing to stay where you are.

- Anonymous

“It’s August, and as we return from our Summer-sojourn, the final stretch of the academic year is front of us. You are all geared-up, just like the athletes at the Paris Olympics, ready, waiting for the buzz, rearing to go. Yes, having decided that you will make the move, forward and upward, and not stay where you are. Strategic and dynamic actions determine your trajectory to the inevitable next level. You have it in you to chase your dreams - unleash that potential and soar. Staying focused and charged, you will cover many a mile-posts, and get to that goalpost - the one that before you started, seemed far and elusive!”
